

2018 BUCKEYE WHEAT HYBRIDS

As we enter the fall we hope that you will keep us in mind for your seed wheat needs. We have four excellent wheat varieties for sale. We are very excited about our new variety “Zeke” and “Meyer” is looking strong in its first year on our customer’s farms.

ZEKE-NEW! - Very early “June harvest” variety that is ideal for double cropping soybeans. It has strong yield potential, nice test weight, very good head scab tolerance, and a good leaf disease package.

BARRETT- This variety has an excellent disease package including best-in-class resistance to head scab. It has medium height with excellent standability. High management fields can be planted thicker with higher rates of nitrogen. This early smooth wheat is another good choice for double cropping.

HOSKET - Excellent grain and straw yield. Great disease package and adapts well to various soil types. Early maturity and baling potential make this a good option for livestock producers and farmers who might want to double crop.

MEYER - A great mid-season choice with very high yield potential, heavy test weight, and is excellent against head scab. This variety has great eye appeal. It has medium height with a smooth head.
